

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

PREFACE TO FIRST EDITION

Since October, 1902, the Economic Seminary of the Johns Hopkins University has been largely engaged in investigating certain phases of American trade-unionism. A considerable part of the documentary material necessary for a thorough study of the trade-union movement in the United States consists of the internal literature of the trade-unions. The collection of such publications consequently became the primary task of the Seminary, and a large amount of this material has been secured and catalogued.

The extent and rarity of trade-union publications made it desirable that other important collections of the same kind should be located and their contents ascertained. By the courtesy of the officials in charge manuscript lists were obtained of the valuable collections of trade-union publications in the John Crerar Library at Chicago, in the Department of Labor at Washington, and in the Library of Congress. In addition, the collections in the central offices of a number of the more important trade-unions were catalogued. From these data a combined card catalogue was made. The large interest manifested at the present time in American trade-unions suggested that the publication of this card catalogue in the form of a trial bibliography would be serviceable, first as a basis for a future more complete bibliography, and, secondly, as a useful guide to investigators remote from the Johns Hopkins University.

American trade-union publications emanate chiefly from local unions, central labor unions, national unions and federations. Of these, the publications of the national unions and of the federations are the more important for the study of the present organization and activities of the American trade-unions. In the early stages of the labor movement in the United States the local union was the unit in the trade-union world. With the development of transportation facilities and the greater freedom of competition thus induced between different localities, the national union acquired a dominant position. The unit in the existing organization of labor is the national body, and the activities of these organizations must necessarily form the center of any scientific study of labor organizations in the United States. In much the same way, the activities of central labor unions at the present time are largely a reflex of the activities of federations. The difficulty of collecting and cataloguing the enormous amount of printed matter issued by the numerous local bodies has made it necessary to confine the present bibliography, except for the earlier period, to the publications of national unions and federations.

The publications have been classified in the bibliography according to the names of the organizations by which they have been issued. The method adopted has been to select from the name of the organization the word or words descriptive of the trade, or, in the case of a federation, the part of its name ordinarily regarded as indicative of its function. Thus the "Journeyman Bakers and Confectioners' International Union" has been inserted as "Bakers and Confectioners' International Union, Journeymen," and the "American Federation of Labor" as "Federation of Labor, American." Wherever an organization has changed its name during its existence, the publications have been classified under separate headings corresponding to the different names, and cross-references have been used to indicate the substantial unity of the different organizations.

The chief classes of publications issued by American trade-unions and federations are (1) constitutions; (2) reports of convention proceedings; (3) official journals; (4) other documents, such as scales of prices, proceedings of conferences for collective bargaining, etc. The publications have been arranged under each trade-union in the order thus indicated.

The titles have in general been compressed by omission of matter unnecessary for the identification of the publication. As far as possible, the titles of each class of documents have been made uniform with respect to the facts included. In some cases, data likely to be useful and not appearing in the title have been added within brackets. The trade-union journals have been catalogued by volumes, and where broken the actual condition of each volume has been indicated. Immediately after each title have been placed letters indicating the place or places in which the publication may be found. The following abbreviations have been used for this purpose:

H.—Johns Hopkins University.

L.—Department of Labor.

Cr.—The John Crerar Library.

C.—Library of Congress.

U.—The central office of the union or federation.

Helpful suggestions have been received at every stage of the work from Professor J. H. Hollander. While all the members of the Seminary have assisted in the preparation of the bibliography, Mr. William Kirk, fellow in political economy, and Mr. F. W. Hilbert have rendered especial service by aiding in the arrangement of the manuscript for the press.

Johns Hopkins University,
January 6, 1904.

PREFACE TO SECOND EDITION

Since the first edition of the Bibliography was issued the number of trade-union publications in the collection at the Johns Hopkins University has doubled. The collections at the John Crerar Library, in the Department of Labor and in the Library of Congress have also been substantially increased. The number of items included in the Bibliography has accordingly been enlarged about 50 per cent.

Only one change has been made in the arrangement. In the first edition the items were classified strictly according to the name of the issuing union. Changes in name are so frequent among American trade-unions that the same union will sometimes have had four or five names in twice as many years. The result of adhering strictly to a classification by name of union in such a case was to break up the publications of the same union under several heads. In the present edition the publications of each union, where change of name has occurred, have been placed together under the last name of the union. The former names of the union have been inserted in the Bibliography in their proper place and cross-references made to the last name of the union. A head note to the last name shows the changes in name by years.

Where, however, two or more unions after an independent existence have amalgamated, the publications of each of the constituent unions have been listed separately. Cross-references in these cases indicate the constituent and the resulting unions.

Mr. T. W. Glocker, fellow in political economy, and Mr. D. A. McCabe have assisted in collecting and preparing the material for this edition. I also desire to acknowledge aid in publishing the Bibliography from the Carnegie Institution of Washington.

TRADE-UNION STUDIES

Since October, 1902, the Economic Seminary of the Johns Hopkins University has been largely engaged in investigating certain phases of American trade-unionism. Some results of this investigation have been published, as follows :

The Finances of American Trade-Unions. By A. M. Sakolski. (Paper) 75c. (The Johns Hopkins Press, Baltimore, Md.)

National Labor Federations in the United States. By William Kirk. (Paper) 75c. (The Johns Hopkins Press, Baltimore, Md.)

Bibliography of American Trade-Union Publications. Second Edition. Edited by George E. Barnett. (Paper) 75c. (The Johns Hopkins Press, Baltimore, Md.)

Studies in American Trade-Unionism. Edited by J. H. Hollander and G. E. Barnett. (Cloth) $2.75. (Henry Holt & Co., New York.)

The following monographs have been completed and will be issued shortly :

Apprenticeship in American Trade-Unions. By J. M. Motley.

The Government of American Trade-Unions. By T. W. Glocker.

Beneficiary Features of American Trade-Unions. By J. B. Kennedy.

A Reprint of Economic Tracts

(SECOND SERIES)

In consequence of the favorable reception accorded the reprint of four economic tracts of the nineteenth century in 1903-4, a similar reprint of four important economic tracts of the seventeenth century has been issued under the editorial direction of J. H. Hollander, Ph.D., Professor of Political Economy in the Johns Hopkins University.

The series consists of the following tracts:

- (1) A DISCOURSE OF TRADE. By Nicholas Barbon. London, 1690.
- (2) SEVERAL ASSERTIONS PROVED. By John Asgill. London, 1696.
- (3) DISCOURSES UPON TRADE. By Dudley North. London, 1691.
- (4) ENGLAND'S INTEREST CONSIDERED. By Samuel Fortrey. Cambridge, 1663.

Each tract is supplied with a brief introductory note and necessary text annotations by the editor. The general appearance of the title page is preserved and the original pagination is indicated.

The edition is limited to five hundred copies. The entire series of four tracts will be sold at the net price of one dollar and a half (6 shillings—6 marks—7.50 francs).

Of the first series of reprints a limited number can yet be obtained at the price of two dollars and a half ($2.50) net, for the series. They can, however, be supplied only in conjunction with a subscription to the second series. As the edition approaches exhaustion, the price is likely to be further increased. The first series consists of the following tracts:

- (1) Three Letters on "The Price of Gold." By David Ricardo, 1809.
- (2) An Inquiry Into the Nature and Progress of Rent. By T. R. Malthus, 1815.
- (3) Essay on the Application of Capital to Land. By Sir Edward West, 1815.
- (4) A Refutation of the Wage-Fund Theory. By Francis D. Longe, 1866.

A third series is in contemplation and announcement will be made later.

Subscriptions should be sent to

THE JOHNS HOPKINS PRESS,
BALTIMORE, MD.
